Mount Mercy Holds Its Second Quarter Honors Assembly

Mount Mercy held its annual Honors Assembly last week. Seventy-six students who achieved Second Honors (90.0-94.99) received their honor cards during the program. Sixty-seven First Honors (95.0 and above) and forty-six Merit Roll honor cards (85.0-89.99) were presented in homeroom. Art awards were also presented.

The guidance department presented The Mother Frances Warde Award to the student in each grade whose average improved the most from first quarter to second quarter. Senior Arielle Brown, junior Emma Fredo, sophomore Breanna Sikora and freshman Andrea Carroll, all residents of Buffalo, were honored this quarter.

Members of the basketball, cheer-leading, bowling and hockey teams received their participation awards. The winter scholar athletes also received their recognition for maintaining an average of at least 90% during the quarter they were on an athletic team.

Representing the hockey team were senior Brianna Gawronski, juniors Fiona Danahy and Sophia Robinson and freshman Grace Harrington.

Seniors Hannah Colin, Kate Haettich and Erin Murphy; junior Olivia Harrington; sophomores Julia Jaworski, Isabella Longo, Breanna Sikora, Madeline Szwed and Julia Walsh and freshmen Taya Conway, Olivia Larson and Krista Stephany were honored as the scholar-athletes on the cheerleading team.

Sophomores Megan Cycon, Madeline Kotwica, Angelina Pacholczak and Taylor Stoklosa, along with freshmen Brigid Burke, Kathleen Hughes, Erin Jackson, Lily Kasperek, Elizabeth Lang and Olivia Seifert all achieved scholar-athlete status from the JV Basketball team.

Eleven athletes from the varsity basketball team achieved an average of at least 90%. Seniors Mallory Ashe, Anne Bamrick, Elizabeth Hughes, Marisa May, Clare McKeone, and Grace O'Neil; juniors Emma Fredo and Abigail Hillery; sophomores Alesia Hamm and Josslynn Strang and freshman Xoie Ferrentino all qualified as scholar-athletes.

Six members of the bowling program were also named scholar-athletes. Seniors Emmaline Robinson and Kelly Thomas, junior Chloe Manikowski, sophomore Samantha Batchev and freshmen Hanna Chmielowiec and Bridget Whelan all had averages of at least 90 percent.

Freshman Andrea Carroll proudly shows off her Mother Frances Warde Award as guidance counselor Erin Coakley watches.
