Mount Mercy to Hold Its Annual Open House

On October 1st and 2nd Mount Mercy Academy will open its renowned “blue doors” to showcase one of Western New York’s top academic high schools for prospective young females in grades five through eight. The school, which is ranked in the top ten percent in Western New York, will sponsor tours given by current students, demonstrations and performances on Sunday the first from 11 in the morning until 2 in the afternoon and on Monday the second from 5 in the afternoon until to 7:30 in the evening.

Mount Mercy offers a challenging academic curriculum with ten Advanced Placement Classes, several college credit courses and an honors program. A unique feature of the Academy is its Academy of Science and Healthcare, a partnership with Mercy Hospital and Catholic Health which offers its students a unique career experience. Students have the opportunity to gain exposure to many medical fields as well as the chance to interact with professionals in the field of their choice.

In addition to its academic excellence, Mount Mercy also offers a competitive interscholastic athletic program and an extensive list of extracurricular activities. During the open houses, prospective students will have the opportunity to meet and talk with faculty, staff, current students, alumnae, parents of alumnae as well as parents of current students and members of Mount Mercy’s Board of Trustees, as well as members of the Sisters of Mercy, the school’s sponsoring body.
